► What is the purpose of the study? The purpose of the study was to determine the effect of the use of a mobile phone on the performance of a simulated telephone call. The study was conducted in a laboratory setting. The participants were 100 college students who were randomly assigned to two groups: a control group and an experimental group. The control group used a standard telephone, while the experimental group used a mobile phone. The dependent variable was the time taken to complete the simulated telephone call. The independent variable was the type of telephone used.
